Atlanta Housing Interplay: Reinventing the Digital Monograph

Presented By: Christopher Sawula

Visual Resources Librarian at Emory University

Christopher Sawula will discuss Atlanta Housing Interplay, a new digital art history project in development in the Art History Department at Emory University. The project, focused on the nation's first public housing projects built in Atlanta in the 1930s, seeks to provide a model for a published, digital monograph. The talk will explain the origins of Atlanta Housing Interplay, its structure, and how it seeks to bridge the gap between traditional print scholarship and interactive online projects.
